

adboni Income Disclosure

The adboni Compensation Plan offers exceptional opportunities. Our members can book both low cost advertising, as well as participate in these profits through revenue share and affiliate agency commissions.

Although the possibility is unlimited, individual results will vary depending on levels and sales skills of each participant according to commitment.

The following figures refer to estimates by the company pending a more detailed survey ready to be carried out after his first year. Based on industry standards and company projections, average annual gross income for Partners/Affiliates is projected to be $ 100 and somewhere between $ 4,000.

Since the program started on May 15.th in 2016, there are no adequate statistical data in order to present a comprehensive income overview of all participants over a longer period of time.

In our former project more than 80,000 partners are registered.

Although a few participants achieve even monthly incomes over $ 100,000 per month on a regular basis in our former projects, less than 1,5% of all participants have there sufficient income from this business, to live as their sole source of income from it.

For most partners adboni would be an extra income.

Although our former projects could reach immense increases in sales each month since its launch in April 2015, neither guarantees nor promises regarding future revenues and earnings opportunities can be given for the project adboni.
